China: A History

By Harold M. Tanner

exam price:  $4.00

A deep and rigorous, yet eminently accessible introduction to the political, social, and cultural development of imperial and modern Chinese civilization, this volume develops a number of important themes — such as the ethnic diversity of the early empires, interaction with other civilizations, and the challenge of transforming a multi-ethnic empire into a modern nation-state — that competing editions omit entirely or discuss only minimally.

Daily Life in the Mongol Empire

By George Lane

“Daily Life in the Mongol Empire could readily serve as a basic history course text owing to its introductory and explanatory character . . . . The excellent biographies, including one listing many of the translated primary source materials, ensure that this book will be an essential component in any library of the Mongol Empire.”

— Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies

Genghis Khan and Mongol Rule

By George Lane

Spawning an empire ranging from Persia to China, Genghis Khan united a nomadic warrior culture that had lived with their agrarian neighbors through controlled and limited extortion. This accessible book provides an introduction to the history and culture of the Stepp people from which Genghis Khan emerged, and chronicles the events that led to his being named the Great Khan. Also included are sixteen biographical sketches, a wealth of annotated primary documents, five maps, an annotated timeline, a glossary, an annotated bibliography and several illustrations.

The Mission of Friar William of Rubruck

Translated by Peter Jackson

“This is the first annotated translation to be made from the definitive Latin text published by A. van Wyngaert in 1929, and Peter Jackson and David Morgan are to be congratulated on producing an exemplary edition. The historical introduction is comprehensive and succinct, the translation excellent and idiomatic, while the notes clarify the text and explain why important variant readings have been chosen.”

— Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies

The Four Books

The Basic Teachings of the Later Confucian Tradition

By Daniel K. Gardner

2007 192 pp. $9.95 pa. ISBN 978-0-87220-826-1 exam price: $2.00

In this engaging volume, Daniel Gardner explains the way in which the Four Books — Great Learning, Analects, Mencius, and Maintaining Perfect Balance — have been read and understood by the Chinese since the twelfth century. Selected passages in translation are accompanied by Gardner’s comments, which incorporate selections from the commentary and interpretation of the renowned Neo-Confucian thinker, Zhu Xi (1130-1200).

Butterfly Mother

Miao (Hmong) Creation Epics from Guizhou, China

Translated by Mark Bender

“Talk about ‘persistent cultures’ — this translation of the great epic, mythic tellings of the Miao/Hmong peoples is a window into a huge ancient soul of sustainable spirit and practice. Mark Bender’s commentary provides context and details places and singers that makes it even richer. This book provides new insights into how deeply oral recitation and performance can be embedded in a whole society, and some fresh, stunning stories.”

— Gary Snyder, author of Mountains and Rivers Without End

A Tale of Two Melons

Emperor and Subject in Ming China

By Sarah Schneewind

2006 176 pp. $8.95 pa. ISBN 978-0-87220-824-7 exam price: $2.00

“Building on an apparently tiny incident in 1372, Sarah Schneewind has conjured up an absorbing evocation of Chinese imperial power, the ambiguity of omens, and the unpredictability of fate. This concise and finely crafted book also provides a grand introduction to the ways historians (both then and now) think, work, and present their findings.”

— Jonathan Spence, Yale University

Everyday Life in Early Imperial China

By Michael Loewe

2006 248 pp. $10.95 pa. ISBN 978-0-87220-818-6 prof. price: $8.00

In this lively and accessible account, with illustrations on nearly every page, Michael Loewe gives us a vivid picture of the lives of peasants working the land, the lives of town inhabitants, and the elaborate hierarchy of institutions and civil servants that sustained the vast imperial government. In a new Preface and an updated Bibliography, Loewe calls our attention to the significance of scholarly research and discoveries since the original publication of his classic work.

The Government of the Qin and Han Empires

By Michael Loewe

In this concise volume, Michael Loewe provides an engaging overview of the government of the early empires of China. Topics discussed are the seat of supreme authority; the structure of central government; provincial and local government; the armed forces; officials; government communications; laws of the empire control of the people and the land; controversies; and problems and weaknesses of the imperial system. Enhanced by details from recently discovered manuscripts, relevant citations from official documents, maps, a chronology of relevant event, and suggestions for further reading keyed to each topic, this work is an ideal introduction to the ways in which China’s first emperors governed.

Confucius

Analects

With Selections from Traditional Commentaries Translated by Edward Slingerland

The Essential Analects

Selected Passages with Traditional Commentary Translated, with Introduction, by Edward Slingerland

Laozi

The Daodejing of Laozi

Translated by Peter Jackson

“Hackett strikes again with an enormously useful book for undergraduate instruction in Chinese philosophy. This is the first reliable translation of the entire Mencius in many years. Van Norden is an insightful student of philosophy and provides many valuable comments on the text and its controversies; in addition, he furnishes the reader with judiciously chosen examples of traditional commentary. This translation will be used and appreciated for decades.”

— Paul R. Goldin, University of Pennsylvania

Mengzi

Mengzi
