Zen Sourcebook

Traditional Readings from China, Korea, and Japan

Edited by STEPHEN ADDISS, with STANLEY LOMBARDO
& JUDITH ROITMAN

Introduction by PAULA ARAI

3/2008

March 2008 256 pp. $12.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-909-1 exam price: $3.00

This is the first collection to offer selections from the foundational texts of the Chinese, Korean, and Japanese Zen traditions in a single volume.

Through representative selections from their poetry, letters, sermons, and visual arts, the most important Zen Masters provide students with an engaging, cohesive introduction to the first 1,200 years of this rich—and often misunderstood—tradition. A general introduction and notes provide historical, biographical, and cultural context; a note on translation, and a glossary of terms are also included.

"This is an excellent book for undergraduates . . . to be commended for its wide coverage; the Korean material is especially hard to find. . . . The short introductions to the selections are lucid, informative and focused, providing students with a good framework through which to understand the readings. Any course that wants to work with translations of primary texts, rather than textbook summaries, will find this book the most convenient and cost-effective available."

—Brook Ziporyn, Northwestern University

STEPHEN ADDISS is Tucker-Boatwright Professor in the Humanities and Professor of Art History, University of Richmond.

STANLEY LOMBARDO is Professor of Classics, University of Kansas.

JUDITH ROITMAN is Professor of Mathematics, University of Kansas.

DANIEL K. GARDNER

The Four Books

The Basic Teachings of the Later Confucian Tradition

New

2007 192 pp. $9.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-826-1 exam price: $2.00

In this engaging volume, Daniel Gardner explains the way in which the Four Books—Great Learning, Analects, Mencius, and Maintaining Perfect Balance—have been read and understood by the Chinese since the twelfth century. Selected passages in translation are accompanied by Gardner's comments, which incorporate selections from the commentary and interpretation of the renowned Neo-Confucian thinker, Zhu Xi (1130-1200).

This study provides an ideal introduction to the basic texts in the Confucian tradition from the twelfth through the twentieth centuries. It guides the reader through Zhu Xi's influential interpretation of the Four Books, showing how Zhu, through the genre of commentary, gave new coherence and meaning to these foundational texts. Since the Four Books with Zhu Xi's commentary served as the basic "textbook" for Chinese schooling and the civil service examinations for more than seven hundred years, this book illustrates as well the nature of the standard Chinese educational curriculum.

DANIEL K. GARDNER is the Dwight W. Morrow Professor of History at Smith College.

SARAH SCHNEEWIND

A Tale of Two Melons

Emperor and Subject in Ming China

New

2006 176 pp. $8.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-824-7 exam price: $2.00

"Undergraduates will join specialists in enjoying this feast of melons. Schneewind's marvelous little book is at once a primer in some key aspects of China's traditional civilization and history, as well as a case study of an obscurely understood event that took place in 1372, in the reign of Taizu, founder of the Ming Dynasty (1368-1644). When two melons share a single stalk, and a local grower presents the anomaly to the emperor, the symbolism, the intentions of the giver, the reaction of the recipient, and the meaning of the whole act to observers and later commentators turn out to be anything but straightforward. Divergent interpretations began immediately, and continue to the present day."

—John Dardess, University of Kansas

". . . Schneewind has conjured up an absorbing evocation of Chinese imperial power, the ambiguity of omens, and the unpredictability of fate. This concise and finely crafted book also provides a grand introduction to the ways historians (both then and now) think, work, and present their findings."

—Jonathan Spence, Yale University

"Schneewind offers sharp insights into the structure and daily workings of premodern Chinese society and government and the subtle forces that acted to temper absolute imperial power. . . . A rich and original study that wears its erudition lightly and presents a wealth of detail in highly readable form."

—Joanna Waley-Cohen, New York University

"This is an excellent, engaging account of Chinese history, using a small incident to illuminate the relationship between the emperor, his officials, and his subjects—comparable to Philip Kuhn's famous study of soulstealers in its range and insight. The scholarship is detailed and exact, the writing is clear, and the story is fascinating. It should be popular with students of Chinese history at all levels."

—Peter C. Perdue, Department of History, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

SARAH SCHNEEWIND is Assistant Professor of History, University of California at San Diego.

ZHUANGZI

Zhuangzi: The Essential Texts

MARK SIDERITS Buddhism as Philosophy

2007 304 pp. $16.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-873-5 prof. price: $12.00
Copublished in the U.K. by Ashgate Publishing. North American rights only.

In this clear, concise account, Siderits makes the Buddhist tradition accessible to a Western audience, offering generous selections from the canonical Buddhist texts and providing an engaging, analytical introduction to the basic tenets of Buddhist thought.

"In my own attempts to teach Asian philosophy to American undergraduates, I have often felt the lack of a book like this one. To my knowledge, no other text leads students to question critically the assertions of Buddhist philosophers and to evaluate the arguments for them. Moreover, existing books often include only a few short selections from original Buddhist texts. This volume provides students with the opportunity to wrestle with the richness and complexity of the primary sources.

"Mark Siderits [is] one of the most important scholars of Buddhism in the world. No living author has done more to make Buddhist ideas intelligible and relevant to contemporary debates in analytic philosophy."

—Charles Goodman, Binghamton University

"There has long been a great need for a book like this one. Siderits shows the grace of a wonderful teacher and hits exactly the right tone for his intended audiences. [He] moves easily between the Buddhist schools of thought and Western philosophical traditions. The coverage of schools and problems is, moreover, exactly right. I can think of no other field of such great interest that lacks such an obviously needed resource. Siderits' book fills that gap."

—Owen Flanagan, Duke University

"[Both] philosophical and analytic, this book is superb. . . . The quality of the writing, its elegance and clarity, is very high. Technical vocabulary is used as needed but always carefully explained."

—Bryan W. Van Norden, Vassar College

MARK SIDERITS is Professor of Philosophy, Illinois State University.

Readings in Han Chinese Thought

Edited and Translated by MARK CSIKSZENTMIHALYI

2006 256 pp. $14.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-709-7 exam price: $5.00

"With Mark Csikszentmihalyi's collection, readers at last have an accessible, eclectic introduction to the key themes of thought during this crucial period. Providing clear introductory essays and elegant, readable translations, Csikszentmihalyi exercises a judicious revisionism by breaking down stereotypes of philosophical orthodoxy and offering a subtler vision of cross-fertilization in thought. His juxtaposition of texts that reflect very different social milieux and their problems gives a more vivid picture of the Han than has ever before been available in an English-language collection. The result is a work that should by rights be required reading in courses on the Han for years to come."

—David Schaberg, University of California, Los Angeles

"A judicious selection from primary sources to illustrate the growth of ideas in early imperial times. Teachers and students will welcome these readable translations of passages drawn from Han writings that are not widely known and which add depth to existing views of Chinese ways of thought, religious practices, and means of government."

—Michael Loewe, University of Cambridge

"This reader is an incredibly rich resource. It fills a crucial pedagogical gap, and will no doubt become a standard textbook in the teaching of early Chinese thought to non-specialists. The depth of annotation and notes for further reading also make it rich hunting ground for advanced students and specialists in the field, who have much to learn from Csikszentmihalyi's breadth of scholarship and lucid analysis of the world of thought and practice in the Han"

—Edward Slingerland, University of British Columbia

MARK CSIKSZENTMIHALYI is Associate Professor of Chinese and Religious Studies, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Early Buddhist Discourses

Edited and Translated by JOHN J. HOLDER

2006 240 pp. $12.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-792-9 exam price: $3.00

Twenty discourses from the Pali Canon—including those most essential to the study and teaching of early Buddhism—are provided in fresh translations, accompanied by introductions that highlight the main themes and set the ideas presented in the context of wider philosophical and religious issues. Taken together, these fascinating works give an account of Buddhist teachings directly from the earliest primary sources.

In his General Introduction, John J. Holder discusses the structure and language of the Pali Canon—its importance within the Buddhist tradition and the historical context in which it developed—and gives an overview of the basic doctrines of early Buddhism.

JOHN J. HOLDER is Associate Professor of Philosophy, St. Norbert College.

The Government of the Qin and Han
 Empires: 221 BCE-220 CE

2006 248 pp. $10.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-818-6 prof. price: $8.00

In this concise volume, Michael Loewe provides an engaging overview of the government of the early empires of China. Topics discussed are the seat of supreme authority, the structure of central government, provincial and local government, the armed forces, officials, government communications, laws of the empire, control of the people and the land, and problems and weaknesses of the imperial system.

Enhanced by details from recently discovered manuscripts, relevant citations from official documents, a chronology of relevant events, maps, and suggestions for further reading keyed to each topic, this work is an ideal introduction to the ways in which China's first emperors governed.

The Essential Analects
Selected Passages with Traditional Commentary

2006 192 pp. $8.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-772-1 exam price: free

The Essential Analects offers a representative selection from Edward Slingerland's acclaimed translation of the full work, including passages covering all major themes. An appendix of selected traditional commentaries keyed to each passage provides access to the text and to its reception and interpretation. Also included are a glossary of terms and short biographies of the disciples of Confucius and the traditional commentators cited.

"One of the best available choices for the classroom. Accurate, crisp, and concise."

—Paul R. Goldin, Department of East Asian Languages and Civilizations, University of Pennsylvania

Analects

With Selections from Traditional Commentaries

2003 312 pp. $14.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-635-9 exam price: $3.00

"Based on the best modern and traditional Chinese and Western scholarship, Edward Slingerland's exemplary new translation of the Analects—including selections from the traditional commentaries on each passage of the text—is a welcome edition. Contemporary readers will be enlightened as to what Confucius taught his disciples and will share the experience of being a neighbor to all the generations of students who have pondered the sometimes cryptic and enigmatic words of Confucius. Slingerland's use of commentary gives readers a fighting chance at understanding and appreciating this foundational Confucian classic."

Butterfly Mother*Miao (Hmong) Creation Epics from Guizhou, China*

Translated by MARK BENDER

Based on a Version Compiled by JIN DAN & MA XUELIANG

2006 256 pp. $12.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-849-0 prof. price: $9.50

Butterfly Mother is a collection of epic songs from the rich oral tradition of the Miao (Hmong) people of southwest China. These poetic narratives, traditionally performed by two groups of singers, relate the creation of a world in which everything is alive, and listeners find that besides mountains, rivers, trees, and creatures, inanimate objects are also 'born' and have spirits. In his engaging introduction, Mark Bender places these mythic narratives in their social and historical context, describing the workings and traditions of Miao society.

Brimming with cultural lore, Butterfly Mother is a virtual encyclopedia of time-honored myths, legends, and folk customs of the Miao people.

"Talk about 'persistent cultures'—this translation of the great epic, mythic tellings of the Miao/Hmong peoples is a window into a huge ancient soul of sustainable spirit and practice. Mark Bender's commentary provides context and details of places and singers that makes it even richer. This book provides new insights into how deeply oral recitation and performance can be embedded in a whole society, and some fresh, stunning stories."

—Gary Snyder, author of Mountains and Rivers Without End

MARK BENDER is Associate Professor of East Asian Languages and Literatures, The Ohio State University.

CHUANG-TZUThe Inner Chapters

Translated, with Commentary, by A. C. GRAHAM

2001 304 pp. $14.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-581-9 exam price: $5.00

"Angus Graham was for many of us the most distinguished sinologist of his generation. This annotated translation of the Zhuangzi is a splendid demonstration that only his rare combination of philological and philosophical acuity can provide the Western reader nuanced access to the profundity and humor of one of the world's masterpieces of philosophical literature."

—Roger T. Ames, University of Hawai'i

LAOZIThe Daodejing of Laozi

Translated, with Commentary, by PHILIP J. IVANHOE

2003 160 pp. $12.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-701-1 exam price: $3.00

"Why another translation of the Daodejing? Ivanhoe manages, unlike some scholarly translators, to respect the intellectual, social, philosophic, historic, and spiritual integrity of the text and to put the text into a readable, insightful, and elegant English rendering of the most famous of the early Daoist classics."

—John Berthrong, Boston University School of Theology

LAO-TZUTao Te Ching

Translated, with Translators' Preface, Glossary, and Pronunciation Guide, by STEPHEN ADDISS & STANLEY LOMBARDO

Introduction by BURTON WATSON

Ink Drawings by STEPHEN ADDISS

1993 128 pp. $8.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-232-0 exam price: $1.50

"This crystalline translation of the Tao Te Ching is accurate down to the nuance and as concisely poetic as the original. . . . Of the many translations I have read in English, this is unquestionably the best."

—Gary Snyder, University of California at Davis

Images of Women in Chinese Thought and Culture*Writings from the Pre-Qin Period through the Song Dynasty*

Edited, with Introduction, by ROBIN R. WANG

2003 464 pp. $18.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-651-9 prof. price: $14.00

"... this work is a monumental effort on the part of the editor and contributors and can be used in many different ways and for many different purposes. The most rewarding, but also the most demanding, is to read it from cover to cover; this will afford diligent readers a wide perspective and enable them to gain a more profound understanding of the wide variety of ideologies and practices that existed in ancient China regarding women and gender, and the changes and developments in these ideas and practices through the ages. Alternatively, it can be used as a reference to locate specific texts with their translation. Not least, it can be used as a sourcebook for teaching gender in a particular dynasty, school of thought, or literary genre."

PHILIP J. IVANHOEEthics in the Confucian TraditionThe Thought of Mengzi and Wang Yangming, 2nd Edition*

2002 256 pp. $12.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-597-0 prof. price: $8.00

"This enlightening book is a comparative study of the moral and metaphysical theories of these two luminaries of the Confucian tradition. . . . Ivanhoe draws in masterful strokes the trajectory of the Confucian image of the sage, from the semi-divine creator heroes revered by Kongzi, to Mengzi's human exemplars of perfected self-cultivation, to Wang Yangming's concept of the innate sagehood of every human."

—Rene Goldman, Pacific Affairs

PHILIP J. IVANHOEConfucian Moral Self Cultivation, 2nd Edition

2000 152 pp. $10.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-508-6 prof. price: $7.00

"[Ivanhoe] is a careful and thorough interpreter of texts, and also has the knack of presenting an insight or an interpretive move in a short space and in pointed language. . . . Another merit is the way in which Ivanhoe presents other people's scholarship. He provides a wide range of citations of recent interpretations of the texts under discussion; but in general the explanation and Ivanhoe's answering comment are kept brief, which enhances the readability of the book for its intended audiences. . . . As a detailed presentation of Confucian accounts of moral self cultivation, and of recent scholarship pertaining to this, [this book] is I think superb and unrivaled."

—Joel J. Kupperman, Journal of Chinese Philosophy

Six Myths about the Good Life

Thinking about What Has Value

2006 168 pp. $9.95 paper ISBN 978-0-87220-782-0 exam price: $2.00

"This is the best introduction to philosophical accounts of the good life available. An excellent choice for any student of philosophy, this original and revealing study will inform, stimulate, and challenge even the most sophisticated reader. Kupperman combines the distinctive care, precision, and analytic power of philosophy with the best insights of contemporary psychology and a sophisticated, sensitive, and wise appreciation of the Indian, Chinese, and Western philosophical traditions. The result is a modern classic."

—Philip J. Ivanhoe, City University of Hong Kong

"Six Myths is a consistently clear and engaging book. . . . The author's grasp of Eastern thought and the 'positive psychology' movement makes the book useful to a very wide audience."

—Charles Guignon, University of South Florida
